

NAME: Stephanie Cordray
POSITION: Director of Operations
EMAIL: scordray@totalweb-inc.com
LOCATION: Nashville TN

ABOUT:

Stephanie Cordray has a BS, cum laude, in Psychology with an emphasis in human behavior. After almost finishing a post graduate counseling program, she decided it wasn't where she wanted to be and began looking at her options. Considering the degree she had was really fit for only one career field, she found herself working in management positions that on the surface had nothing to do with her degree. However what she had learned was easily applied to effective team building and personnel management while her organizational and management skills kept the business running smoothly.

She always had a bit of a creative side, usually taking shape in the form of writing and painting. In 1996 she discovered a love of computers and the internet and has been interested in the potential of them since that time. She extended that interest into various applications that allowed her to foster the creative side and materialize that creativity into internet ready creations. She continually adds to her knowledge through experimentation and hard work aimed at hands on learning as new technologies and software become available. Her ability to self teach is phenomenal. She is not yet ready to face more formal education methods after having spent several years in that setting, although she has said she may consider it when she retires just to keep herself busy. To quote, she says, "It's changing too fast. By the time you see it in a book it's already outdated."

Rather than let all this knowledge go to waste as well as all the creations she's made, she followed a long time dream: to be in business for herself and working from home. Her creativity, coupled with her management and organizational skills led to the development of TotalWeb-INC. Along with her husband James she began the process of building a new business. However, the vision she had for the company could not be accomplished by the two of them alone and again her team building experience came into play as they looked for just the right people to be a part of their dream, which brought other members to the TotalWeb-INC team.

Other accomplishments:

Short story published in the anthology "Stories of Strength" . The anthology's proceeds are donated to charity for disaster relief.

Abilities

Graphic design and applications

- Adobe Photoshop
- Jasc Paintshop Pro v7
- Adobe Illustrator up to version 10
- Flash Animation
- Microsoft FrontPage
- Dreamweaver
- Microsoft Office
- InDesign
- Bryce v5
- 3d Studio Max v4.x

Web development

- JavaScript
- XML
- HTML
- DHTML
- PHP

At present she is adding to this repertoire various programming languages and operating systems including:

- Visual Basic
- C++
- Microsoft Windows all versions to XP (beyond the basics)
- Linux
- Working on a Graphical Internet Relay Chat Server and Client
- Canvas 3d professional